THE THEATRE

Britain has a long tradition of drama. British theatre began in the thirteenth century, before the time of Shakespeare, with a series of short stories from the Bible called the Mystery plays. Even today, every four years in York and Chester, ordinary people still perform these plays.

Acting, both by amateurs and professionals, is still very much alive in Britain. British professional actors are usually highly respected and well-trained. The most famous British theatres are the National theatre and Barbican. The Royal Shakespeare Company performs at the Barbican in London and in Stratford-on-Avon, where Shakespeare was born. These theatres receive money from the government so that they can perform several different plays a year. In spite of this money from the government, many theatres, including the National theatre and the Barbican, find it difficult to survive. There are many smaller theatre groups in Britain. Some of them receive money from the government to perform plays which are contemporary and experimental.

Commercial theatres do not receive any money from the government. They usually perform very popular plays. If a play is successful, the company will perform it for many years.

7. Say if the following statements true or false. (ПИСЬМОВО)

1. Three types of theatres are mentioned in the text.
2. Shakespeare was the person who started the tradition to stage the plays in the theatre.
3. Ordinary people in some cities prefer only watching plays not acting.
4. British professional actors usually show excellent acting.
5. All theatres in Britain receive money from the government.
6. All theatres stage only classical plays.
7. Shakespeare's plays are staged only in his native town.
8. All theatres have a successful run.
9. Commercial theatres stage any plays they wish because they aren't given any money from the government.

John Christopher Depp, an Oscar winner, was born on June 9th 1963 in Owensboro, Kentucky. His mother Betty Sue Palmer was a waitress, and his father John Christopher Depp was an engineer. He was the youngest of four children. The family often moved because of the father's job but finally settled in Florida.

Depp hated his new home and started smoking and experimented with drugs and alcohol. Johnny's parents divorced when he was only 15. As a result Johnny dropped out of school. He wanted to pursue a career in rock music and joined a band as a guitarist. Soon John moved to Los Angeles along with his band. There he was introduced to Nicolas Cage who suggested that he should try his luck with acting. Depp made his film debut in 1984 in A Nightmare on Elm Street. He played in such films as Edward Scissor hands, Sleepy Hollow, Charlie and the Chocolate factory, Pirates of the Caribbean. Besides music he is also keen on painting and literature
